CONSTRUCTION UAE

Emaar awards Dubai towers construction

Local developer Emaar Properties has awarded the estimated AED900m ($245m) deal to build the Hills development in Dubai to Athens-based Consolidated Contractors Company (CCC).

The project involves building a common podium with six towers. Four will be residential towers and the other two will be serviced apartments and hotels managed by the developer's subsidiary, Vida Hotels.

CCC is also the contractor for the raft foundation, while the local Dar is the design consultant for the scheme. The project is located off Sheikh Zayed Road overlooking Emirates Golf Club, close to Emaar Business Park, Dubai Media City and Dubai Marina.

Emaar is also evaluating bids from contractors for the deal to construct the Vida Residence tower in the Downtown Dubai district.

The 57-storey building will have 320 residential units, including one, two, three, and four-bedroom serviced apartments. It will be linked directly to Vida hotel opposite Souk al-Bahar by an air-conditioned glass bridge. The consultant is Canada's Norr Group.

Emaar has been one of the most active construction clients in Dubai over the past two years, awarding a string of major projects, mostly in the vicinity of Burj Khalifa, the world's tallest building.
